Friday & Saturday, March 20th & 21st @ 8:30am-4:30pm	Making Sense of Your Worth 2-day event	Making Sense of Your Worth (MSOYW) is a step-by-step program that can benefit anybody, who want to heal from their past and engage in connected relationships. Whether we realize it or not, we all bring baggage from our past experiences into our present-day relationships. The Making Sense of Your Worth Curriculum is designed to help individuals examine how events in their life have impacted them, created shame, and impacted their ability to feel positive self-worth. As we make sense of our past, MSOYW teaches skills that promote healing and practical ways to gain more positive self-worth. As we come to understand our true preciousness, we gain the emotional capacity to pass that gift on to others.	Roni Melton and Samantha Whiting will be facilitating this fabulous class CASA is offering this class at NO COST to Advocates ($300 value) Coffee and Lunch will be provided each day Please RSVP to Kim@NorthIdahoCASA.org by March 10 th , we still have spots available!
